ABOUT LEOR

A FRENCH-BASED AGENCY

Located in Lille, northern France, Leor Literary Agency is a foreign and domestic rights agency. We work on a behalf of a broad group of French publishers and promote their catalogues on the international literary scene.

FRENCH EXCELLENCE

By selling translation rights on behalf of their clients, our agents aim to promote French excellence around the world and ensure the highest level of performance as they prospect new deals for publishers and writers alike. French literature thrives far beyond the country's borders, particularly when it comes to children's books, comics, and fiction.

HIGH QUALITY INDEPENDENT PUBLISHERS

The ambition and high standards of publishing houses such as Locus Solus, Apogée, and La Pimpante have caught the eye of foreign publishers and prompted a deep interest in independent French press. Leor Literary Agency is proud to represent such a range of dynamic publishers and promote French culture overseas.

FORMAT: 194 x 226 | PAGES: 32
WORDS: 1200 | PRICE: 12,90 €
ALL RIGHTS AVAILABLE

The Work

As she is diving into the ocean, little Junille discovers by chance a strange underwater world. Populated by colorful characters, she meets Gibuly, a seahorse boy of her age. But he lacks confidence, whereas she has plenty of it! Together, they take part in the great Gill Inventors competition. But not everything will go according to plan... The most important thing is to join in! A friendly hammerhead teaches them.

Key Sales Points

- The characters are inspired by actual marine animals, and the storylines involve child psychology in a fun way!
- A dreamlike and benevolent world, carrying inclusive and eco-friendly values.

The Author(s)

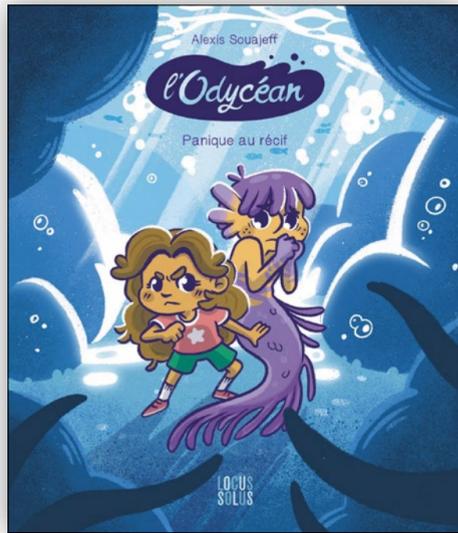

After studying graphic design and illustration, Alexis Soujaeff started writing enchanting and modern stories. Passionate about wildlife, he likes to create dreamlike and benevolent worlds, carrying inclusive and eco-friendly values.

The Work

Junille is determined to join Gibuly, her seahorse friend, to play. She dives in, just as he is being picked on by some young bullies. Junille drives them away by pretending that a simple flashlight is a lethal weapon! This misunderstanding suits her well: now confident, the two friends take the opportunity to spook small creatures on the reef... Until they come across something much bigger than them! Confidence is a wonderful strength, when you don't misuse it!

Key Sales Points

- The characters are inspired by actual marine animals, and the storylines involve child psychology in a fun way!
- A dreamlike and benevolent world, carrying inclusive and eco-friendly values.

Prisoners of old stones, ghosts have sometimes forgotten what led them to eternity...

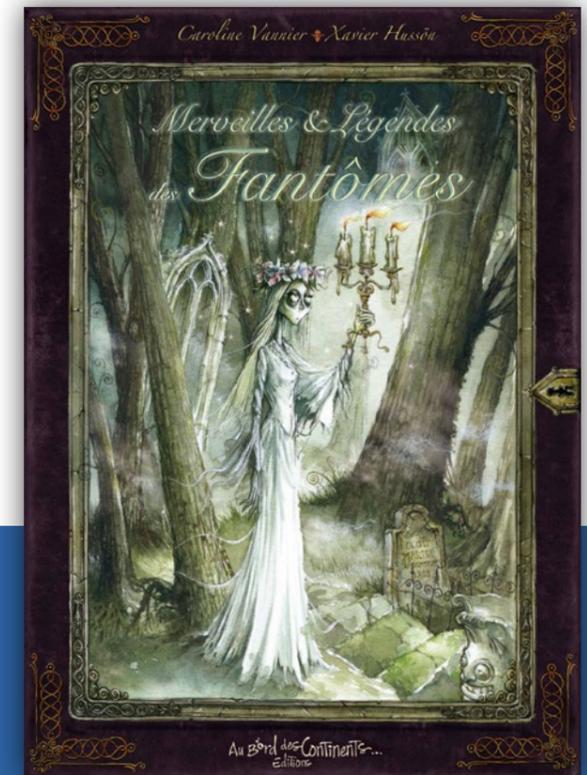

→ A gorgeous book, with beautiful illustrations and bewitching stories.
 → To be read by the warmth of a wood fire and with a steaming bowl of pumpkin soup!

Prisoners of old stones, ghosts have sometimes forgotten what led them to eternity. But some full moon nights, their hearts seem to beat again, echoing a troubled past... A young woman buried alive in the heart of the Broceliande forest... a white lady haunting, even today, the castle of Trécesson... Three walkers in the mists of the Arrée Mountains coming across a ghost's carriage... Occupants of abbeys in ruins or deserted cemeteries... So many delightfully chilling tales illustrated with wit and devilishly rendered! A soft illustrated book, to be enjoyed under a blanket by the fire on winter evenings. It soothes and relaxes, and the magic happens!

CAROLINE VANNIER & XAVIER HUSSÖN

As a child, Caroline Vannier dreamed of becoming Alice in Wonderland... but because she didn't meet the white rabbit, she created her own stories. She draws her inspiration from authors such as the Grimm brothers, Neil Gaiman, Jean-Claude Mourlevat or Patrick deWitt... as well as film makers such as Tim Burton, Terry Gilliam or Guillermo del Toro. Member of an authors' community and librarian by profession, she leads writing workshops for all ages and puts on shows for young children.

Having become a graphic designer, Xavier Hussön's pleasure for drawing leads him to work in visual communication. He also contributes to the design of sets and other museum displays. Seized by the magic of tales and legends, dreamed worlds and enchantment, he then turns to writing, where, playing with the pen and the brush, he bewitches, over the course of published works, a large audience of young and old readers.

Learn how to use plants with magical powers to prepare potions, elixirs, in the witchcraft manner.

- A real old-fashioned spell book, with superb color illustrations of magical herbs all in the style of Voynich manuscript.
- “Handwritten commentaries” by witches for an authentic look.

Designed in the style of an ancient book of spells, Richard Ely's Secret of the Witching Herbs is a magnificent book on the use of herbs and their virtues. By combining Richard Ely's texts with Charline's illustrations, this book offers a wealth of information about these plants and herbs. Discover recipes and learn how to use plants and herbs with magical powers to prepare potions, elixirs, poisons, ointments, and talismans in the traditional witchcraft manner. Illustrated by Charline with ancient script and folkloric images, this book offers advice and recipes for everyday use. Once you open this book of herbal magic, there's no turning back. Unless you want to pick some magic herb to prepare your spells, of course... This spell book is based on mystical traditions that date back to the dawn of time. It is based on ancient recipes, formulas muttered under the moon, and secrets shared on holy nights. So, get out your cauldrons, get on your broomsticks, and forage the land to discover these bewitching, protective, healing and even diabolical herbs!

RICHARD ELY & CHARLINE

Ever since he was young, Richard Ely had a passion for folklore and fantasy, which he eventually studied as an undergraduate at university. After this, he began creating magazines and festivals such as Trolls & Légendes, the Journées Féeriques (“Fairy Days”), and the unmissable meeting place for fairytale lovers: Peuple-feerique.com. He follows in the footsteps of Thomas Owen, Claude Seignolle, and Pierre Dubois, three authors who have influenced him throughout his journey into the land of the unknown and occult. Charline is an illustrator with a passion for the world of imagination and tales. Since childhood, she has developed an amazing graphic universe full of details and oddities. Charline is particularly fond of watercolor and is inspired by nature to create her works.

Dragons have fed the imagination of many civilizations since ancient times, giving birth to many legends.

→ A long-seller with 15,000+ copies sold.

→ A beautifully illustrated and instructive book which takes the reader on a fabulous journey and encourages reverie.

Rattling scales, breath of fire, twirling under the scarlet skies... Dragons have fed the imagination of men since the dawn of time, giving birth to many legends. Each civilization in its own way has honored the marvelous creature. As times changed, the same ones who had once adored it now called it a cruel and bloodthirsty monster, and its executioners became the heroes. In this book, we honor the "great fire-breathers," these magnificent, untamable creatures, who have ignited a childhood passion that can never be extinguished and guide us as we go through life with our head in the clouds, on the back of our very own dragon...

Hanayo discovers in her family home a metal sphere on which eight fantastic creatures are engraved...

- A short novel inspired by Indiana Jones!
- Beautiful enigmas and a perilous journey await Hanayo in order to discover the secret of a precious treasure.

Hanayo, an audacious and courageous young girl, discovers in her old family home a mysterious metal sphere on which eight fantastic creatures are engraved. As she walks through her village, the strange object begins to flutter. Passionate about archaeology, she is determined to open the sphere and understand the origin of these vibrations. Her research leads her to discover the Octahedron, its amazing guardian, and the dangers that threaten the world... Hanayo embarks on a journey that is as fantastic as it is perilous in an ancient American city. Fortunately, the young girl can rely on the knowledge of her new friend and her faithful motto: "Logical and accurate is the plan!"

Prisoner of a troll, a young boy calls upon all of his imagination to avoid being devoured by the monster.

- A mysterious and intriguing universe that stimulates the imagination of young and old alike.
- Readers will also find a beautifully illustrated bestiary within these pages.

"It is said that trolls leave folks alone if they pay their toll. Not this one though, and Pepin Pern has had a bitter experience of that." As a prisoner of the fearful troll Stone Heart, a young boy has to call upon all of his resourcefulness and imagination to avoid being devoured by the monster. According to the imposing library that adorns his lair, the creature loves stories, so Pépin Pern seizes the opportunity to survive another day, and then another, by telling him a tale each night. How long will he manage to keep the troll in suspense before his insatiable appetite gets the better of him?

Caring for his sister at the hospital, Flavien falls into a magical world, that could be the key to saving her.

- Finalist of the 2021 Fondcombe Award.
- A story to rediscover the classics of fantasy literature, such as Alice in Wonderland, the Wizard of Oz, and the Neverending Story.

After the accident that put his sister in a deep coma, Flavien discovers a magical world under a hospital bed. A disturbing mist ravages the kingdom of this mysterious land, and a sleeping princess somewhere off in this distant universe could be the key to saving his sister. The young boy, accompanied by a strange creature, embarks on an epic and dreamlike quest full of adventures and riddles to defeat Scarified, an evil being whose scars reflect the darkest nightmares, and to liberate the Kingdom of the Underworld, whose territories are divided between light, shadow, and twilight. Many trials await them, such as a visit to a haunted forest and a face-to-face encounter with two gigantic monsters who, like a Sphinx, impose riddles to guard the entrance of a sacred mausoleum. Without knowing it, he will travel through some literary classics like Alice in Wonderland, The Neverending Story, and The Wizard of Oz. For all these references are not accidental, and Flavien will discover at the end of his journey, during the final confrontation, that everything is linked to the books he has always loved.

Soline, an imaginary girl, is kidnaped by an old lady and taken away to the World of Abandoned Dreams.

- A clever mix between Charles Dickens, Spirited Away, and Tim Burton.
- A fantastic, poetic, and dark tale.
- The story features all kind of imaginative worlds, the best and the worst.

Soline is a ten-year-old girl who leads a peaceful life with her parents Manon and Julien in a small town on the outskirts of Lille, France. She is a sweet, dreamy child, who can sometimes be a bit stubborn. In short, she is an ordinary girl, down to every last detail. There is just one problem: she does not exist. She is the fruit of the imagination of her parents who, after struggling for years to have a child, have created in their minds the daughter of their dreams. Soline's life changes when, one day, Manon becomes pregnant. Her imaginary environment fades away and she is soon kidnaped and taken away to the World of Abandoned Dreams. This parallel universe is the repository of all the unfinished stories, forgotten imaginary friends, unfinished characters, and settings for novels and unmade films... Detained in an orphanage with very strict discipline, Soline and her friends will do everything in their power to escape this hell. This begins for them a journey filled with adventures and strange characters as they search for new parents.

- A mystery linked to one of the most famous puzzles in history.
- A story that recalls Rear Window by Alfred Hitchcock.

Olivier, 13 years old, moves with his parents to the countryside after his mother, a history and geography teacher, is transferred to Arville, an old town that prides itself on having a commandery that traces back to the Knights Templar and their preceptor. While walking his friend Thomas' dog, Olivier watches heavy work in a neighboring property and notices, horrified, that a shovel falls into a huge hole. Curiosity leads Olivier to go back to his neighbors' garden and, to his great astonishment, uncovers with the shovel some old chests decorated with a kind of logo representing two riders on the same horse. The adventure could have begun here, but because Olivier went on the neighbors' property without permission, his strict father punishes him: Olivier is grounded for all of summer vacation and will not be able to leave the house. Fortunately, Amanda, who he is secretly in love with, lives across the street and promises to help him.

"This novel accurately portrays the preoccupations of a curious teenager trying to understand the inconsistencies of the adult world, enduring unfair punishments without giving up on the things he considers important." - SZRAMOWO, Babelio

"It is well written, it reads easily, the plot is appealing, it falls within the environment that a young boy of this age might know and the historical background deals with the Templar order in a simple way, which gives credibility to the whole story; it is really good. No doubt a school reading would allow teachers to develop the topic "without looking like it". - Peter Pazul, Amazon

The city of San Francisco is destroyed by a violent earthquake. Two babies, abandoned on the doorsteps of a convent the same day, 15 years earlier—Leah in Paris, Drarion in San Francisco—find themselves in a devastated park, two of only a few survivors of the disaster. Among the wreckage, Lea finds a mysterious box that is firmly locked. Worried about her adoptive parents and with the box under her arm, she convinces Drarion and Satine, a young journalist, to help look for them in the ruins of the city. Buried under their house, Lea's parents cannot be saved and succumb to their injuries. The two teenagers refuse to follow the paramedics on the scene, who seek to send Lea back to France and Drarion to an orphanage. Examining the medallion Drarion wears around his neck, they discover it's the key to the box. Once opened, a message appears and reveals that the two teens come from another world whose balance has been upset. Of royal blood, they were sent to Earth for their safety. They decide to return to this unknown land, taking Satine with them. In this magical universe populated by strange creatures, they will have to adapt and learn to hold their rank. Will they be able to overcome the danger that awaits them with the Prince of Darkness?

Lilou has to spend her first year of college sharing a flat with her elder brother and his sexy best friend...

→ 20,000+ copies sold in 5 months.

→ Bestseller from day one: #1 Apple across all genres, #2 Amazon across all genres, (#1 in romance).

→ A well-paced story, with numerous twists and turns.

Spending your first year of college sharing a flat with your elder brother and his best friend? Quite a depressing idea! However, following an unforgivable misbehavior, Lilou's parents imposed their decision on her. She soon discovers that the charms of her brother, Matt, and the dark and enigmatic Neal make it hard for women to resist. Both of them take advantage of their success with the female students to party at the apartment. While young Lilou, marked by a much deeper wound, has made a promise to herself: to succeed in her studies without letting herself be distracted. A flatshare that guarantees a lot of tension! It is especially Neal's obvious disdain for the pretty Lilou that is likely to complicate their cohabitation. Angry at having had to leave his fraternity because of his new flatmate, he kicks off the hostilities at their first meeting. And Lilou's strong personality is not enough to fight back and stand up to him. But what can you do when desire overrides reason? And when everything goes out of control? Welcome to college, between fantasies come true and disillusion...

They are about to enter a 2 years military service, at a time where the mistakes of the past resurface.

- A new planet, futuristic technologies, and endearing characters.
- A Young Adult novel mixing adventure, intrigue and romance.
- An addictive and bewitching reading.

Nearly a thousand Earth years have passed since Man first set foot on this new planet. One thousand years is enough time to forget history and repeat the mistakes of the past. For the time being, Cyanelle, Nathaneon and Elyess are preparing to start a new year at the service of their homeland. Cyanelle is the governor's foster daughter. She does her best between school, her job and caring for her little brother, also adopted, Sixtin. Sixtin and Cyanelle are brutally parted when she is forced to serve in the military, a two-year service, mandatory at age 27, if one is drawn. Given her position, she should have been exempted... Elyess is a young man part of the Black Ravens gang. He starts his second year of military service with a lot of bitterness. Nathaneon is also part of this gang. He has been forced to serve 14 years in the army to avoid prison. He graduated over the last 4 years and now handles the military service training. He is happy to have Elyess back in his group, as he is very attached to him. However, when he discovers that the governor's daughter has joined his team, things get darker and he starts giving her a hard time. If everything seems to make them stand against each other, they might have more in common than expected. Welcome to Zealot Base Camp #2. For better or for worse.

Chloe finds herself plunged into a parallel universe, and enters an academy, waiting for her to come...

- A rich, complete, well thought out and very intriguing world.
- An adventure mixing magic, battles, friendships and mysteries.
- From the first chapter, the action is on and won't weaken until the end.

When you're almost eighteen, you have fun, you go out, you flirt, you procrastinate on homework. Whereas she thought she was going to spend her daily life as a regular teenager in a new high-school with her family and new friends, Chloe finds herself plunged into a parallel universe, Neo-Terra, and enters a strange magical academy whose members seem to know her already. But who are her classmates wearing around their necks a gemstone of a different color than hers. And why were they waiting for her to come...? Between classes, challenges of the great tournament organized by her school and reminiscences of her past, the warrior within her will gradually wake up. But time is running out. Sogoth, an evil being thirsty for power, dreams of taking control of the Quasar, an ancient magical object that would make him "the unquestionable master of the universe". War is coming to this world and it is the survival of all humanity that is at stake in the face of the dark forces lurking in the shadows.

JÉRÔME PATALANO

Child of the 80s and teenager of the 90s, Jérôme Patalano lived "the best movie and TV wave of all time", a blessed period with no internet or cell phone. His weekends and evenings spent assimilating all the popular culture of his time fertilized an already well-fed imagination. He moved to Paris at the age of 21 to work in communications, advertising and the press, where he was successively graphic designer, journalist, editor-in-chief and social media manager. It was at the age of 40 that he completed his very first novel, Beyond the Stars, a Young Adult Fantasy, which had begun to sprout in his mind as a teenager.

Remiel, a fallen angel, is entrusted with the mission of protecting a mysterious young nun...

- A gripping plot, a soft and immersive writing style.
- A very well handled story world with characters that are easy to identify with because of their realism and authentic reactions.

After several millennia wandering on Earth, Remiel wants to get it over with: a fallen angel who dared to love a woman, he only aspires to reach his ultimate goal: death. And when the past knocks on his door, it's the perfect opportunity for him to end his meaningless existence. Through his best friend the Archangel Raphael, HE will entrust him with a mission: to protect a young nun. Why? He doesn't know it yet and especially why him... But nothing happens as he expects and the job turns out to be more complex than he had thought. Is Ava really who she says she is? And what secret lies behind her new vocation? Between the attraction that drives him to the young woman and a paradise on fire, will Remiel be able to fight all battles at once?

A fantastic post-apocalyptic world. A badass heroine hunted by a demon. A war between Good and Evil.

- A mix of fantasy, post-apocalyptic and romance.
- An excellent plot and a well-developed world.
- An exceptional writing style.

The apocalypse took place eight years ago. Since then, on a land abandoned by God, monsters hunt in the open... Jaime lives in the poorest part of this new world: South Village. Her destiny? To become a good wife and to give birth to a child. But she has no chance of seeing that happen. She may be scared, but she's also determined to join the army alongside Keane, her best friend - and the only person she has left. Beyond the walls that protect the Five Cities, she'll discover a deadly, evil world that longs for chaos. Yet she knows that something is rumbling inside her, something she can't control. And that asshole Ciaran won't deny it. He's the only one who knew at first glance that she was different. Now Jaime is in danger. To regain her right to exist, she'll have to face her greatest fears and let go of her last dreams. Who is she really? Can she trust Keane, the man she loves with all her heart, or Ciaran, the sexy, too perceptive, soldier? And most importantly, what will be her part in this giant chessboard?

Jenny is nothing. Sold by her people to the werewolves to settle a debt, she will quickly shake things up.

- #1 Amazon bestseller for over a year.
- 25,000+ copies sold since release.
- In a post-apocalyptic Scotland (bit-lit version), the werewolves are known by all and have gathered in clans to become stronger.

A payment. She was supposed to be just a small payment... In a world where humans have been reduced to slavery and divided into different social classes under the domination of the Supernaturals, Jenny belongs to the Aturals, the bottom of the social scale. She is nothing. That's why her people don't hesitate to hand her over to the MacFillan clan, powerful werewolves based in Scotland, to settle their debt. But the one who was only supposed to be a product will quickly turn everything upside down for the wolves and unsettle everything that they thought they knew. She refuses to obey them, and she is particularly obstinate towards Keir, the MacFillan's youngest son, who is as annoying as he is persistent. She is special, he feels it. He knows it... and he's not the only one who notices it. Used, desired, and put up for sale, danger surrounds the young woman, whose allies turn out to be rather surprising. To save her own life and uncover the castle's secrets, Jenny is now ready to shake up the established order.

New powers linked to a ruthless wizard. A hunt. Revenge. And a vampire who's a little too grabby.

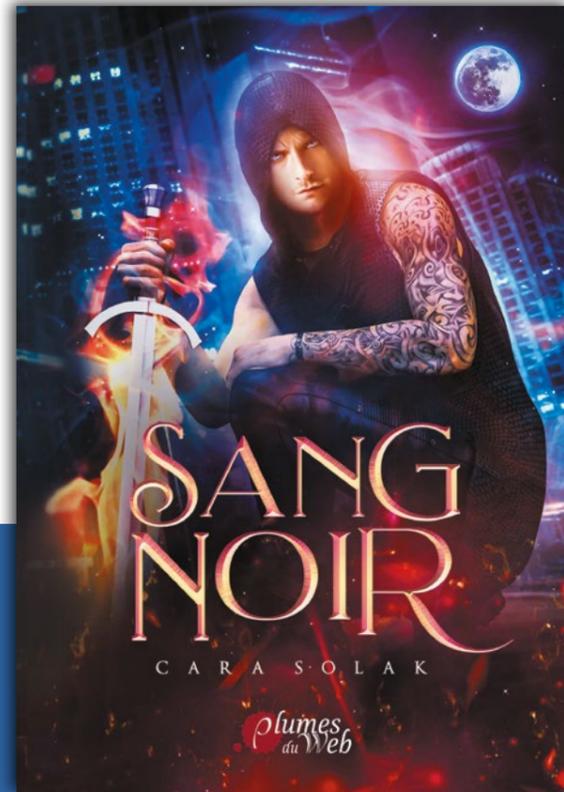

- A mix of urban fantasy and romance.
- Love story of the type enemies-to-lovers.
- An immersive plot from the very first pages.

New powers linked to a ruthless wizard. A hunt. Revenge. And a vampire who's a little too grabby. My entry into the world of magic couldn't have started better!

One night in a dark alley, Rain's life is turned upside down, propelling her into an unknown world. Victim of a vampire straight out of a fashion magazine, she discovers that she is a witch. Their blood is disgusting, and the man with the sharp fangs doesn't hesitate to tell her so! She might be happy to learn that she has powers, but bad luck!, her magic only works in the presence of a man named Silas: a ruthless, unpleasant and scary wizard - but also a little too attractive. And, of course, he seems determined to kill her, unless she can be useful to him... She didn't really have a past, and no future. But it was probably better than being hunted down, like all the Black-Bloods. Now she has no choice but to run... and Silas is her only way out.

CARA SOLAK

What if dreams were in fact parallel dimensions? What if these dimensions somehow came together?

- An incredible journey that plunges the reader into total immersion until the very last page.
- A dreamlike universe where marvellous and nightmares come together.

What if dreams were in fact parallel dimensions? What if every time we fall asleep, our mind creates a temporary world that disintegrates when we wake up? But Isobel has a special gift: she can project herself into these fragile dimensions and alter them, to even restore how they are in the "waking" world. At 20 years old, she leads a simple and solitary life in a small village in the Highlands. When she sees a passing image of a woman on the banks of her local loch, Isobel never would have guessed that it could change her life so much. This woman then comes into Isobel's dreams and consumes her thoughts. To uncover this mystery, Isobel will have to follow a breadcrumb trail between dreams, waking hours, and nightmares. This is the first novel by a talented young author with a rich and poetic style. The dreamlike world illustrated though this fantasy novel will captivate and thrill a wide range of ages.

ELIE SOHEEN

Elie Soheen was born in 1990 near Paris, where he has spent most of his life. A fan of all artistic expression, he considered studying applied arts before finally choosing music. However, he never gave up writing, which has marked his life since the dawn of his adolescence. Fond of dark stories, his imagination is particularly shaped by works by Anne Rice, Philip Pullman, Scott Westerfeld, JK Rowling, and Karine Giébel. Particularly sensitive to the symbols and emotions of art, his inspiration is not limited to the world of literature as he draws from cinema, music, comics, and video games for his ideas.
